As Miss Boston and several children who are boarding at the home of W. H. Morrison, of Colchester, were out driving one day recently, the horse became unmanageable and ran at breakneck speed. He crashed into a wagon and then ran down the hill, and near the bridge rolled down the embankment about ten feet, tipping the canopy buggy over. Miss Boston and the children were thrown under the wagon. People who saw the accident went to their assistance and found the children unhurt, but one of Miss Boston's arms was badly sprained. It seemed almost a miracle that they were not killed or seriously hurt.

ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE.

Poor Son of Lincoln Man Returns Home Rich After Many Years.

South Lincoln, August 18.—The talk of Lincoln and vicinity today is a little incident in real life that reads like a novel. Twenty-two years ago George Caldwell, then 17 years old, was driven from home by his father, James Caldwell, who it is said had grossly maltreated the boy and been prosecuted for wife-beating. A. C. Merrill of this town loaned the lad some money with which to go, he finally reaching California, friendless and poor, but resolved to be free. Years passed and little news of the wandering boy reached Lincoln, but he was struggling, graduating in due time, by his own efforts, in medicine, and beginning practice in which he prospered, locating after a time in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where he was eminently successful. During these years he had never returned home, his memory was too unpleasant.

Tuesday noon a well dressed man and woman, his wife, riding a fashionable automobile, stopped at the Lincoln house for dinner. They did not register and nobody knew them, though former schoolmates were about the place. In the afternoon the strangers quietly came for a spin to this place, taking the road that leads to the farm of James Caldwell, a farm long since lost on a mortgage, but still occupied by the father on the indulgence of the mortgaged. Overtaking Mr. Caldwell in the road, the tourists stopped for distance inquiries and finally took aboard the auto as a treat the old man, for a ride to his home. Arriving at the house the strangers stopped to look over the property, and the conversation turning to family affairs the visitor asked: "Have you any sons living, Mr. Caldwell?" "Yes, two, Arthur and George, who are both physicians. I gave them both a college education; in fact, George could talk two languages when quite young. He left home some years ago on account of a love affair, but is well settled and prosperous."

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE.

Biology has Proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality, causing itching scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Here Mr. Caldwell showed the callers a photo of the beloved George and other members of the family. "These are the children of a first wife," inquired the stranger. "Yes, but she has been dead some years." "No doubt your married life has been pleasant?" "Very." Thus the conversation drifted, the stranger finally bidding Mr. Caldwell goodbye without disclosing his identity. Who was the stranger? It was Dr. George Caldwell of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., who left home an outcast and thus return to the house of his father in a $2500 automobile and incidentally learns, as he puts it, one thing he never knew before—that he could speak two languages at the age of 17.

Wednesday afternoon Dr. Caldwell left for Middlebury on his return home. He did not make himself known at all to his father, but he did tell schoolmates.

Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at the Red Cross Pharmacy and Parlor Drug Store. Price 50c.
